WEIGHED 'EM ON ICEMAN'S SCALES

"Bob" Crane, of the Binnewater Lake Ice Company, Opened Baby Weighing Station on His Ice Wagon Wednesday, and Gave Correct Weight, Too.

Jogging peacefully along Downs street Wednesday afternoon, "Bob" Crane, of the Binnewater Lake Ice Company, was concerned only with signs hanging on residences bearing the legend "Ice Wanted," and as he rode along he cheerfully whistled, "How'd you like to be the iceman?"

It had been a busy day and "Bob" was somewhat tired, but no matter how tired he might grow he never lost his cheerfulness, or his jovial smile.

Suddenly there came a call from the sidewalk: "Hey, Mr. Iceman, stop a minute, will you please?"

"Whoa," shouted "Bob" to his team as they slacked up and he turned and saw three women walking toward him. Each woman bore a baby in her arms. They were on their way to a baby weighing station.

As they approached closer one of them asked: "Mr. Crane, would you object to weighing our babies for us?"

"Why certainly not," replied "Bob" with a cheerful smile and hopping down he reached under the driver's seat, secured a serviceable strap and taking one of the babies in his arms, he passed the strap around the baby's body so that it rested comfortably, and then attached the strap to the scales in the rear of the wagon.

Baby tipped the scale at 28 pounds. The other two weighed 30 and 31 pounds respectively.

And it was correct weight, too, notwithstanding the story told by the Hon. Champ Clark when he was here Saturday. According to Mr. Clark's story a new born baby had been left at the house of a friend. They were anxious to ascertain the weight, but had no scales. Just then an iceman passed the house and someone suggested weighing the new arrival on the iceman's scales. The iceman did not object. The new born babe upped the scale at 44 pounds.

The three babes that were weighed by "Bob" Crane, however, were considerably older than that.

INTEREST GROWING IN LAND ARMY

Memberships in the Woman's Land Army are coming in here faster now than during the early stages of the campaign.

On Wednesday Miss Aleon, the only "farmerette" remaining at Mrs. Leggett's Stone Ridge place, visited the uptown post office booth and others.

Interest is being shown also by girls from the industrial plants of the city and literature has been mailed to hundreds of farmers throughout the county.

The booths are still open to receive memberships at the up and downtown post offices. Connelly's Rondout drug store, Rose, Gorman, Rose's and Forsyth and Davis, and the cost is: Tiller $1; planter $5; gleaner $25, and harvester $100.

PRIVATE PIERCE DIED AT CAMP DIX

Word was received Tuesday evening of the death of Private Wesley Joseph Pierce, son of Amatile and Irene Pierce of East Kingston, of pneumonia. The body will be brought home for funeral and interment.

Private Pierce left Kingston July 25 for Camp Dix. Several days ago he was taken ill and removed to the base hospital where he died. He was 23 years of age, and news of his death was received with regret by his many friends.

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, the Misses Alice and Florence Pierce, and two brothers, Andrew and Edward, the latter now in active service in France.

The body will arrive in this city on the 5 o'clock train this afternoon. The funeral will be held from the residence of his parents in East Kingston, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Colman's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a requiem military mass will be celebrated for the repose of his soul.

CONTINUE SOCIAL SERVICE BUREAU

Board of Directors Met Wednesday and Decided to Continue Work of Bureau — Mrs. MacMillan Re-elected Secretary—Offices in Municipal Building.

The board of directors of the Bureau of Social Service met Wednesday evening and decided to continue the work of the bureau. The resignation of Mrs. Laura MacMillan, the efficient secretary, was received. Later she was re-elected secretary to serve without compensation. She has accepted a position as examiner in charge of the woman's department of the labor bureau, as announced in The Freeman. She will also devote her spare time to the work of the Social Service Bureau.

Judge Hasbrouck was re-elected president of the board, and the other officers were all re-elected as follows: Vice presidents, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker and Mrs. W. Scott Gillespie; treasurer, Charles R. O'Connor.

The bureau offices in the municipal building on East O'Reilly street will also be occupied shortly by the Child Welfare Station, in charge of Miss Ella Bates. The records of the Social Service Bureau will be open to Miss Bates and she will assist Mrs. MacMillan in carrying on the work of the Social Service Bureau.

The Social Service Bureau was organized several years ago and has been doing efficient work in systemizing charity work in Kingston.

Iron Cog Knocked Out.

The police standard warning automobilists to turn to the right at Clinton avenue and Main streets was knocked out of commission some time early this morning by parties unknown.

THIS DIST. M. E. QUOTA IS $58,000

That is Amount Tentatively Fixed in Big Drive of M. E. Church to Raise $100,000,000—District Conference Closed at Noon.

The quota of Kingston District of the M. E. Church has been fixed at $58,000 in the big centenary movement of the Methodist Church in this country to raise $100,000,000 to carry on active church work in both the home and foreign fields. The Rev. Dr. R. E. Bell, district superintendent, stated this morning, however, that this was a tentative figure.

The sixty-first conference of the Kingston District which convened on Wednesday afternoon in the Trinity M. E. Church on Wurts street with a session both afternoon and evening closed at noon today when the delegates were entertained at dinner by the ladies of the church. Dinner was served in the Sunday school room.

Dr. Bell presided at the morning session and the Rev. George M. Cranston, pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, reported for the board of examiners. The board recommended that a license to preach be granted William Peckham of Prattsville, Paul Newkirk of Saugerties, and Charles H. Fanning of Dormansville. It was recommended that a renewal of local preachers' license be granted to Frank Davis of St. James's M. E. Church, this city, Wesley D. Hale of Trinity M. E. Church, this city, and to D. E. McBain of West Fulton.

A renewal of license to preach was also recommended to H. L. Muir of Andes and Dr. J. D. Frisbee of the same place, on condition of their passing the required examinations.

R. L. Mauterstock of Round Top was advanced to the second year and T. J. Zinck of Gilboa, and Fred Hults of Arkville were advanced to the third year.

The report of the board of examiners was adopted by the conference.

The entire business of the conference was practically given over to the discussion of the centenary movement. The Rev. W. C. Farwell at this morning's session spoke of the work of the Methodist Minute Men, explaining the organization and character of their work.

Other angles of the work to raise this $100,000,000 were discussed by speakers from the central committee in New York.

The conference was well attended, practically every one of the sixty-three charges in the district being represented.

WAR INDUSTRIES WORK.

Mayor's Plan Has Anticipated Government Organization Here.

The members of the Kingston Industrial War Workers Association are wondering if they and Mayor Canfield did not cause or at least anticipate the recent action of the United States Labor Department directing the employes of industrial plants to organize.

About the middle of August, Mayor Canfield sent out a printed letter for each of the five thousand employees of the industrial plants of the city. In this letter he ureged them to form an association with the purpose of providing in connection with all matters having a bearing upon the war, unity of effort, service from all, and alliance of industrial workers.

At the meeting held on August 20th, the workers present passed a resolution favoring the organization in each factory and industrial plant in the city of a committee of employees representing tht different departments. The workers also decided to erect a Roll of Honor tablet. A resolution was also adopted that Mayor Canfield notify the United States Labor Department of the action taken, and also that he send a communication to President Wilson testifying to the loyalty of the workers of Kingston, which was done.

Now, the United States Labor Department is proceeding along similar lines, and, as stated above, is directing industrial plants all over the United States to form an organization or committee of employes to assist in the war work in their respective plants. The question now is, whether they followed the plan of Mayor Canfield and the Kingston workers, or whether while they were thinking over the proposition quietly in Washington, Kingston acted.

NOTIFYING "AL" SMITH.

Irwin and Washburn Attending Syracuse Meeting.

Roscoe Irwin and George Washburn of this city are at Syracuse, to attend the meeting of the Democratic state campaign committee to which they have been appointed by Judge Kellogg, manager for the state committee. They will attend the notification of Alfred E. Smith of his nomination for governor and also the other state officers at Wieting Opera House this evening.

Kirkland to Reopen.

G. F. and J. L. Holmes, who have been engaged in the hotel business at Asbury Park and in the Catskill mountains, have leased The Kirkland, Main street and Clinton avenue, and will take possession October 1st. After making improvements they will reopen. The Kirkland will serve their guests the best meals the market can afford.

AMERICANS ATTACK IN CHAMPAGNE; SERBS WIN

Allies In Balkans Threaten Chief Gateway to Bulgaria, and General Advance Continues---British Improve Positions In Picardy and Flanders---Italian Front More Active.

Americans are again attacking on the western battle front. Following a blow struck yesterday on the Metz front, Americans drove against the German lines again today in conjunction with a French attack in Champagne.

The exact location of the American assault was not made plain by the French war office, which stated that Americans attacked to the east of the zone where the French were striking out.

(The Champagne region lies between Rheims and the Argonne forest and it was indicated that the American attack this morning was made on the eastern edge of the Champagne area or perhaps in the Verdun sector.)

New gains were made by the British, also. They have improved their positions in both Picardy and Flnaders, meanwhile overcoming strong German resistance.

The Germans have been making futile efforts to held up the French flanking movement against the Chemin-des-Dames (the strategic highway lying north of the Aisne river.)

In the sector of Laffaux mill (at the western end of the Chemin-des-Dames) the Germans made powerful counter thrusts against the French and succeeded in penetrating the French positions temporarily. A French attack drove them back.

The Allied campaign in the Balkans continues to meet with a full measure of success.

Srbian troops scored another gain of fifteen miles yesterday and are now approaching Izvor, which is forty miles inside of the Serbian border.

The Allied forces in the Balkans are now striking in two directions—northwards and eastwards. The advance in the center of the battle front shows no sign of slowing up and a great stretch of the Belgrade Salonika railway, the chief artery of communication running from north to south through Serbia, is now in the hands of the Allied forces.

Babuna pass, the chief strategic mountain defile in lower Serbia, is being turned by the Allied advance. If this maneuver is successfully carried out the way will be opened for a drive into the interior of Serbia and a wide gateway will be opened for the invasion of central Bulgaria.

While both Germany and Austria have sent reinforcements to the aid of the hard pressed Bulgars, these fresh troops are helpless before the overwhelming onrush of the Allied forces.

The brilliant Balkan campaign must be considered as a part of General Foch's general scheme of giving the Germans and their allies no rest in any theatre of war. The drive against the Turks in Palestine is an integral part of this general plan, also.

In addition to the magnificent military results the continuous successes of the Allies in all theaters of war is having a tremendous political effect in the nations of the German alliance.

On the Italian front there is a steady increase in artillery activity and an extension of minor attacks, indicating that the stage is being set therefor an offensive soon.

LOCAL CASES IN APPELLATE DIVISION

Among cases argued and submitted before the appellate division of the supreme court at Saratoga Springs Wednesday, were three of local interest, being:

James Oliver, respondent, against Esther J. Sahler, administratrix of the estate of Frank Y. Sahler. Appeal from judgment in Ulster county for $3,827.18 for plaintiff and from an order denying motion to set aside verdict and for new trial in action to recover on a note. Amos Van Etten for appellant. Frank W. Brooks for respondent. Sahler, a wealthy man of the town of Rochester, was cared for by Dr. Oliver and gave him a note in consideration for the care given him.

John F. Herbert, appellant, against Otto Gerdau Company, respondent. Appeal from judgment in Ulster county dismissing complaint and from an order denying motion to set aside verdict and for a new trial in an action to recover for breach of contract in the sale of bill of goods purchased for the Herbert Brush Company, some of which was not delivered. Amos Van Etten for plaintiff.

State Council of New York, Order of United American Mechanics, appellants, against Hezekiah Hotaling and others, respondents. Appeal from judgment in Ulster county dismissing complaint on merits. Ulster County Council 40, Order of United American Mechanics, of Port Ewen, disbanded and surrendered the charter, but failed to turn into the state organization funds of the council. The action was brought to recover these funds. The case was submitted.

To Try McEvoy Action Here.

In the case of Charles Hvass Co., Inc., against George H. McEvoy, the motion made by the defendant to change the place of trial from New York county, to Ulster county has been granted by Judge Hasbrouck. Krimmer, Canfield & Griemler are attorneys for defendant. Van Buren & Loughran opposed the motion in behalf of the plaintiff. The action was brought by the Hvass Company to recover $560 alleged to be due from defendant, who was a state road contractor, for certain repairs made to his road oiler.

Two Drunks Picked Up.

Peter Francis Whalen, 56 years old, a traveling tinker, was arrested by Officer Kuehn Wednesday evening on complaint of residents of Clinton avenue, near Cedar street, that he was a nuisance. He was calling from door to door trying to sell some plaster. This morning Judge Schirick gave him a chance to get out of town.

Joseph Mozlato, 37 years old, was picked up drunk on Ten Broeck avenue, Wednesday evening. He also was given a chance to get out of town. He was picked up by Officer O'Neal.

RAFFERTY ARRESTED.

Is Cooler Until Pays Alimony Or Court Releases Him.

Daniel Rafferty was taken into custody by Sheriff Smith Wednesday on an order of arrest issued by Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck for contempt of court. Rafferty was sued for a separation by his wife, Mary Rafferty, which was granted and he was ordered to pay alimony. He failed to pay $51 and on an affidavit and complaint made by Palmer A. Canfield, of Brunner, Canfield & Krimmer, the order of arrest was issued and placed in the hands of the sheriff. Rafferty will be detained in custody until he pays the $51 or is discharged by the court.

Tomasian's Claim Granted.

Judge Schirick in the city court has rendered decision granting Mampre D. Tomasian $100, his claim for a sewing machine which he alleges he sold to Lyons, Keffer Clothing Company, who were burned out by the fire in their plant on Prince street August 21.

Schultz Dead in Albany.

Police headquarters received a telegram from the authorities of Albany Wednesday evening asking them to notify Mrs. Elver of No. 19 German street, of the death of her brother, George Schultz, that day in Albany.

METHODISTS HEAR OF CHURCH WORK

The 61st Session of Kingston District Conference of M. E. Church Convened Here Wednesday—Work of Church Related by Speakers.

The sixty-first session of the Kingston District Conference of the M E. Church convened Wednesday afternoon in Trinity M. E. Church on Wurts street, and closed today. The entire conference was devoted to outlining the work of the church in America to raise a centenary fund of $100,000,000 to carry on active work both at home and abroad.

The session convened at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Dr. R E. Bell of this city, the district superintendent, presiding. There are sixty-three charges in the Kingston district, and there was a large attendance of pastors at the conference. At the close of the afternoon session the delegates were tendered a dinner in Sunday school room of the church, and the evening session was devoted to an address on "The World Crisis," by the Rev. Dr. F. H Wright, for twelve years a missionary, in Italy, and at one time pastor of the M. E. Church in Rome His address was one of the most eloquent ever delivered in the church.

At the afternoon session the Rev. A. M. Morgan of Stamford was elected secretary, and the opening devotions were in charge of the Rev. J. E. Parker of Grand Gorge.

The Rev. C E. Libby of Woodstock introduced a resolution, which was adopted, that in recognition of the need of wider ministry and a more comprehensive evangelistic work, the district conference seek the early advice and assistance of Dr. Paul L. Vogt, superintendent of the department of rural work, and that the conference authorize a committee to be appointed to forward a copy of the resolutions to Dr. Vogt and to represent the conference in subsequent intercourse with him.

The first speaker of the afternoon was the Rev. J. Homer Stutz, a member of the centenary committee, who spoke on Stewardship. He emphasized the need of association with Jesus Christ; the wiping out of denominational lines; and finally that the centenary movement was a call to repentance and represented vision, intercession and stewardship. He made a most interesting address and was heartily applauded.

Work on Home Field.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Fort of Chicago, a member of the centenary committee, was the next speaker and gave a birdseye view of the work of the Methodist Church in the home mission field, and the need of the extension work at home.

An echo of the world war was brought to the attention of the audience when Dr Fort remarked that he had not expected to be present, but when called had felt it his duty, and while he was in Kingston his son who had been commissioned a second lieutenant, was at home in Chicago bidding his mother goodby. He said that he had felt alarmed at first over the condition of our boys in training camp but after he had made an investigation of a number of camps, his greatest worry and concern was what kind of a church and what kind of a country would the boys find when they came back from the great adventure across the waters on the battlefields of Europe

Our boys are now members of an organization that is 100 per cent efficient, and he hardly thought they would be satisfied when they came home to find that the church was playing marbles" and with about 66 per cent of its membership not taking an active interest in church work.

Centenary Movement Needed.

It was with joy that he had found that the church was waking up to the needs of the time, and that this centenary movement to raise these many millions of dollars to carry on a more active work of the church was just what was needed to make the church more efficient.

He then plunged into a discussion of the work of the home missionary field and told in an interesting way of the work of the church among the negroes of the south.

He said that the negro problem was a big one. Those who had never lived in the south had no realization of it. He believed however, that when the war was over and the negro soldiers, who are distinguishing themselves on the blood-ridden fields of Europe, came home that there would be a change.

"Negroes Don't Get Fair Show."

Speaking of the lynching bee in the south Dr. Fort said he had talked with many intelligent colored men and they had told him that the negro was not given a fair show and not given a chance to get their side of the story in the newspapers.

The only way to solve the black problem was to educate the negro and give him a chance to make himself independent financially

Work Among Mountaineers.

He then briefly sketched the work of the Methodist church among the so called mountain whites He said that 87 per cent of the men and women chewed tobacco, and that many chewed snuff. The only consolation the speaker could find was that they did not know any better

He recalled the fact that some of the greatest men in the Methodist church had been mountain whites, and that the greatest man who ever trod the western world was Abraham Lincoln, a poor mountain white

Don't you think it pays for us to go into our schools among them?" he asked.

Treasurer's Report.

District Treasurer W. F Dodrick of this city submitted his report He said that Kingston District had been assessed $2,975 for the support of the district superintendent and that half of that amount was due September 15, and that he had collected $1,69[illegible]. Of the 63 charges three had paid up in full to the end of the conference year, 16 charges had paid one-half of their appointments and 26 churches have paid nothing. He urged that the churches pay their apportionment more promptly.

World Progress.

Dr. F. H Wright was the last speaker of the afternoon session and gave an interesting and instructive address on the work of the church abroad.

WILBUR BOY IN ENGLAND.

Yanks Taught English Girls One-Step and Waltz.

The following letter is written by John A. Griffin, a Wilbur boy, to his parents, and made public by his sister, Mrs. Leo Griffin, of 152 Wilbur avenue. He describes the life led by his unit, located in a pleasant part of England, as affording him much pleasure. He makes numerous inquiries about the home folks, writing as follows.

Dear Mother and Father:

I suppose you have received the postal announcing my safe arrival over here. Well, I had a fine trip, which I enjoyed alright. After leaving the ship we paraded through one of the large cities and were treated with the swellest feed, and the next day we had one of England's fine rain storms. We are in the finest part of the country. Send me John Scully's and George Schick's addresses because I think they are somewhere over here. I used to come home before we came over, but I had to wait until Bill went away because I wanted to see him off. Send me his address. I sent a postal to Aunt Mame. I suppose she received hers the same day you received yours. Have any more of the fellows from Kingston been drafted? I suppose they are nearly all gone now. Well, suppose you will be worrying about me all the time now, but you will have to get all over it because I am O. K. here. Did Jim come home yet? Morris Kaplan is over here with me, so we will pal together. I am at the Y. M. C. A. now. Aunt Mame and Jim were over to Garden City to see me one day but I had little time to spare to talk to them. James was crazy over the aeroplanes and every time one would fly over his head he would call to us to look at it. He sure did enjoy them. I wrote to you about a week ago but I have not heard from you. I received a letter from Rita wrote to me in Garden City, and also the papers. How is everybody? I am going to try and send you a picture of the 361st Aero Squadron. I am going to buy two and send them two weeks apart so you will be sure and get one, and if you do get both of them send one to Aunt Mame We are having fine times over here We go to dances every night but Sunday night. I wish you would send me some papers with the casualty lists in. We gave a big dance here the other night and we had some time. We had all kinds of music. The girls over here can do the one-step and waltz. They can dance pretty good, but before the Yanks came over they never heard of the one-step. Some of the boys taught them how to dance the Yankee one step and waltz We are wise to the English money now. We forgot all about the two pit pieces and say shillings instead. I have not been to London yet, but expect to get there before long. They say it is a great place. How is Bill? Expect to see him over here pretty soon. I heard that the ship we came over on was sunk by a sub. It sure was a big one. I bet you were surprised to hear about me [illegible] over here. But d[illegible] to be back [illegible] way the allies are going. Where is Harold Sanford, George Schick, Jim Reilly, Charles Cole and Jack Flannery? I am now sending the King's more to say and am also sending you a poster of one of the dances. Give my best regards to all. Only be sure and send me Bill's address. Tell Flossie to be sure and write. So good bye.

From your loving son,
PRIVATE JOHN A. GRIFFIN,
361st Aero Squadron,
Care American Air Service,
American Exp. Forces,
via N. Y. and London.

The king's message to the soldiers of the United States Army:

Windsor Castle, London.

Soldiers of the United States:

The people of the British Isles welcome you on your way to take your stand beside the armies of many nations now fighting in the old world the great battle for human freedom. The Allies will gain new hearts and spirits in your company I wish that I could shake hands with each one of you and bid you God speed on your mission.

Signed KING GEORGE. R. I.

TELEGRAPH OFFICES MAY BE MERGED

That there may be some changes in the commercial business of the telegraph companies as it is handled in this city, and perhaps in the location of offices appears evident. The committee named by the postmaster general and which comprises G. W. Sawyer, district commercial superintendent of the Western Union, C. A. Richardson, superintendent of the Postal Telegraph, and W. C. DeWitt, acting postmaster, devoted Wednesday afternoon to making an inspection of the situation in Kingston. Their report, which was not made public, was forwarded to Washington.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The Delta Alpha Society will meet at the home of Miss Theora Barringer, 86 Elmendorf street, on Friday evening. The letter will be B.

Golden Wedding.

The consistory of the Bloomington Church will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the marriag of their pastor, the Rev. A. A. Zabriskie, and his wife on October 1, Tuesday evening, at the church. There will be a program of short addresses, responded to by the pastor. Mrs. Zabriskie was the daughter of Stillman E. Ayms, M. D., of Elizabeth, N. J., and was married by the Rev. Everard Kemphall, D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. Augustus Blauvelt, D. D. Mrs. Zabriskie will wear her wedding dress and jewelry.

Doyle-Parsell.

A quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday, September 25, at high noon when Miss Ella Parsell and Ellsworth Doyle, both of Port Ewen, were united in marriage by the Rev. L. Appeldoorn, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church. The ring ceremony was used. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion with the autumn colors, hydrangeas, palms and asparagus fern forming a pretty background for the bridal party. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bridal party entered the parlor, the bride on the arm of her father, who gave her away. Her only other attendant was little Miss Helen Parsell of Newark, N. J., niece of the bride, who acted as flower girl. The bride looked very pretty in a gown of white voile trimmed with baby Irish lace and carried an arm bouquet of astors and asparagus fern. Bountiful refreshments were served in the dining room, immediately after which the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip in the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle have the best wishes of their many friends.

Plenty of Beer at Oneonta.

Oneonta saloonkeepers anticipating a big attendance at the Oneonta fair last week put in large stocks of "wet goods." Owing to bad weather the crowds were small and the saloonkeepers were disappointed with their sales and now have large stocks on hand. One dealer it is said has three carolads of beer on hand and another two carolads. The city goes dry October 1st.

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 26, 1918.

The Department of Labor is just now having a hard time finding workers for the industries of the country, including workers in the government service. One of the reasons why there is a shortage of clerical help for the government is illustrated by a pamphlet of 458 pages just issued by the Department of Labor on the subject "Mortality from respiratory Diseases in Dusty Trades." It is an important subject, and a timely subject, but the essential parts of the pamphlet could have been covered in 58 of the pages, and the 400 extra pages saved, thus avoiding an immense amount of clerical work, type-setting, press work, binding, paper, ink, and mail transportation. As a matter of fact, the pamphlet contains on pages 440 and 441 a quotation from an address delivered by Miss Lillian Erskine before the American Academy of Political and Social Science in 1917, which apparently covers the essential facts. Everybody knows that dust of any kind is injurious to the lungs, and that the best available methods should be adopted to avoid dust-breathing. That is what we learned when we studied physiology in the fifth grade, it is what Miss Erskine said in her address in 1917, and nothing essential has been added in the 458 pages of book published by the Department of Labor at a time when the whole nation is struggling with the problem of finding people to do the work that absolutely must be done to win this war.

In his letter advocating the nomination of W. J. Harris for the Georgia Senatorship, President Wilson said that Mr. Harris had "consistently and actively supported the administration." In view of the fact that Harris was an obscure resident of Georgia before he came to Washington to be first Director of the Census and later member of the Federal Trade Commission, it would have been more accurate for the President to have said that the administration has consistently and actively supported Mr. Harris. Still, it is probably true, also, that Harris has been both consistent and active in suporting the administration. He has undoubtedly changed his mind promptly every time the President changed, and was active in keeping politics from adjourning, notwithstanding his position on the Federal Trade Commission. It has been noted that office holders pretty generally are active in supporting the administration—if they were not they wouldn't be office holders long. Passive support will not win elections.

Congressman Edmund Platt of Poughkeepsie was the author of an amendment to the recent bill authorizing the sale of additional war savings stamps that will be of great help in all future stamp drives. As the law now reads no person can purchase more than $100 worth of stamps at any one time. The provision, however, has been violated many times, even by the President himself, and Mr. Platt believes it should be wiped off the statute books, and everybody permitted to buy as many stamps as he pleases at one time up to the statutory limit of $1,000 in all. Although not reported by the Ways and Means Committee Mr. Platt's amendment was accepted by the chairman, and became a part of the bill without any objection being raised to it.

One newspaper commenting upon the action of the Director of Railroads in reducing the number of ticket offices in New York from 48 to five, and the number of clerks from 300 to 210, says that leases for the new ticket offices have been made for a period of five years, so that it is evident that after the war there will be no immediate return to the "extravagant method of ticket selling." But it is by no means proven that the old method of ticket selling was extravagant. Assuming that the administration permanently maintains the saving in the salaries of 90 ticket sellers, who probably drew salaries of $1,500 a year, or $135,000, and assuming that there will be a saving of nearly $200,000 in rentals, as claimed, making a total saving of $335,000, how shall we ever compute the loss of time people sustain in going longer distances to get their tickets, and the loss of time while standing in line at the ticket counter? Perhaps the country has saved something by the discontinuance of the offices and ticket sellers, and maybe it has lost. Nobody knows.

Vice-President Marshall must experience a keen feeling of his own unimportance when he reads the paragraph in the revenue bill under which he will have to pay an income tax on his salary. In enumerating the Federal officials who are subject to that provision the bill reads as follows: "The President of the United States, the judges of the Supreme and inferior courts of the United States, and all other officers and employes, whether elected or appointed." It is apparent that the Vice-President is one of the "other officers and employes."

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Are you looking out for work, my good man?" "Yes'm, but I've been lucky enough to dodge it so far."—Baltimore American.

Sunday School Teacher (smiling benignly)—"Ferdinand, what is an enemy?" The Slumnite—"He's a frien' what's found yer out."—Life.

Flatbush—"Are you doing anything to cut down your table supplies?" Bensonhurst—"Oh, yes; we've eliminated the finger-bowls."—Yonkers Statesman.

"Hello! Is this Smith's coal office?" "Yes." "I've only got coal enough in my cellar to last till tomorrow——" "That's good! What'll you take for it?"—Boston Transcript.

"Do you have meatless days at your house." "Yes," replied Mr. Meekton. "Everybody except the dog." "Why the exception?" "Well, Henrietta is right complimentary about it. She says my superior intelligence enables me to be philosophical about a situation which would grieve Fido because he couldn't understand it."—Washington Star.

The Kaiser's Discovery.

Gen. I. W. Littell of the quartermaster's corps has been explaining to a reporter the excellence of the heating arrangements of the various camps.

"Everything," Gen. Littell concluded, "everything is going well, as the Kaiser will find out before long.

"It costs Columbus only $7,000 to discover America. Well, it will cost the Kaiser a good deal more than that."—Exchange.

How She Would Find It Out.

Willie and Jack are two youngsters who are pugilistically inclined. The other day the following conversation took place between them:

"Aw," said Willie, "you're afraid to fight; that's all it is."

"Naw, I'm not," protested Jack, "but if I ifight my ma'll find out and lick me."

"How'll she find it out, eh?"

"She'll see the doctor goin' to your house."—Harper.

All Figured Out.

An Irishman who was rather too found of strong drink was asked by the parish priest:

"My son, how do you expect to get into heaven?"

The Irishman replied: "Shure and that's aisy. When I get to the gates of heaven I'll open the door and shut the door, and open the door and shut the door, and keep on doing that till St. Peter gets impatient and says, 'For goodness sake Make, either come in or stay out!'"—Philadelphia Star.

KOHAN HAS CHANCE

To Be of Service to Government in Russian Policy.

Eliasar Kohan, the merchant at Port Ewen, who is carrying on in a small way a ten and twenty-five cents business in his residence, is now, as the following letter shows, being considered in the department of state at Washington as available for employment in the Russian peace commission.

Mr. Kohan can speak three languages and many of the dialects used in different states in Russia. He was educated in Moscow and Petrograd in civil engineering and relative branches. He is a scientist who for years has been studying the development of electricity. His residence in this country has covered a period of thirteen years.

The Freeman some time ago published the statement that Mr. Kohan had applied to Postmaster DeWitt for his influence to get him into the employment of the government. Mr. DeWitt wrote a strong letter of endorsement and this morning received the following:

Department of State, Washington, September 17, 1918.

Mr. William C. DeWitt, Acting Postmaster, Kingston, New York.

Sir:—Your communication dated August 9th last, addressed to the secretary of the president enclosing a letter from Henry E. McKenzie, dated July 16th, addressed to you recommending Eliasar Kohan as a proper person to accompany an American commission to Russia, has been referred to this department.

Regarding this matter, the department desires to inform you that the past experience, knowledge of languages and general qualifications of Mr. Kohan have been noted and his name has been listed and filed in the department for consideration in connection with the policy of this government toward Russia.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,
For the Secretary of State:
BRECKENRIDGE LONG,
Third Assistant Secretary.

Wedding Cake.

The wedding cake has from time immemorial formed among us an important item in the sentimental banquet. This is a relic of the Roman period, when the pagan marriage ceremony consisted principally of the consecrating parties partaking of a cake made of flour, salt and water. In the presence of the Pontifex Maximus of high priest and ten witnesses.

HANDSOME STYLES IN COATS, SUITS AND DRESSES

Quality, cleverness, diversity are the distinguished characteristics of the Autumn and Winter coat and suit styles.

The new coat wrap, for example, is a clever example of a garment that may be worn in the daytime as well as for quite formal evening occasions.

The coat wraps are represented in those big coat stocks by many fine and exclusive examples.

In the suit section interest is running high on the new styles coming in.

The long skirted suits with the slash at the ankles, the long coated suits and some with the short jacket, have their votaries.

The suits with jackets just below the finger tips and with skirts 1 3-4 to 2 yards at the hem and about 6 or 7 inches from the ground, however, hold strong place and in this classification the style range is unusually wide.

Tomorrow we will have some specially choice numbers to offer just in from some of the leading designers of New York.

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' TAILORED SUITS

SPECIAL VALUES

Ask to see our $29.50 suits in all wool cheviot, poplin, garbardine and serge. The colors are black, navy, brown, taupe and Burgundy, and the models are new and popular.

Other suits in velour, Silvertone, "Duvet-de-Laine," serge, Poiret twill, garbardine and poplin—the straight line models of mannish type with narrow shoulders and close fitting sleeves, norch or shawl collars and belted effects.

The more dressy models are handsomely embroidered and many are fur trimmed.

PRICED FROM $35.00 TO $138.50

A Very Large and Complete Line of Ladies' and Misses' Coats

The materials are of Bolivia, Suede, Velour, Silvertone, Pom Pom, Tweeds, Kersey and Habit Cloth. Some of the models are belted, others hang full from the shoulders or are belted in front. Many are beautifully trimmed with raccoon, wolf, nutria, beaver, Australian oppossum or taupe or coney fur.

These are positively all wool materials and the prices from $29.50 to $169.50.

Black plush coats are being shown extensively this season and we are prepared to show you the finest line we have ever had at popular prices.

Benefit Dance.

On Monday evening, September 30th, there will be a grand benefit dance held in St. Mary's Hall, under the auspices of the Central Athletic Club, for the benefit of their members in the United States service. The club has six members who are doing their bit and each one who has joined the colors the club has supplied them with tobacco, fountain pen, etc., and are holding this dance Monday evening to keep up this good work. About fourteen more members registered September 5 for the next draft this means that the Centrals needs and must get money if they wish to continue to send them away wth a smile. So it is hoped that a large attendance will be at this dance next Monday in St. Mary's Hall, corner Broadway and McEntee street. Music by Miller's orchestra.

STATE FARMERS' MARKET REPORT

Following is Report No. 4 of the State Division of Foods and Markets showing conditions and prices prevailing in New York city for the week ending September 24:

The Potato Situation.

Maine potatoes have started with about 10 cars the first week. This will increase to about 400 cars per week at the height of the season. The stock is pretty good.

Long Island potatoes are still arriving in large quantities and the stock is very fine.

A few cars of machine graded New Jersey potatoes arrive each day but the flush season is over.

A strike of the laborers who unload the cars at the Pennsylvania piers hampered the market at the beginning of the week but now conditions are improved and the men are gradually coming back to work.

At the request of the federal government the prices will be given in terms of a hundred pounds. To find the price per bushel multiply the prices quoted by 2 and divide the answer by 5.

Highest and Lowest Prices Actually Received.

No prices quoted on No. 2's because very little of that grade is on the market at present. Maine potatoes sold for $3.03 to $3.09 per hundred pounds. Long Islands brought from $2.64 to $3.18 per hundred pounds. New Jersey Giants, which are long potatoes, moved at $2.85 to $2.95 per hundred. New Jersey round potatoes sold for $3.10 to $3.16. Market fairy active and conditions are improved over last week.

Peaches.

New York State Elbertas in bushel hampers $3.50 to $4.25. Sixteen quart baskets (fancy) $2. Demand good.

Apples.

The demand for fancy red apples far exceeds the supply; conditions of the market excellent. Jonathans brought from $6 to $10 per 3 bushel barrel. Wealthies sold for from $6 to $8; Greenings from $5.50 to $6.50; Yorks from $5.50 to $5.00; Baldwins from $4.50 to $5.00; Duchess from $5 to $6. Fancy crabapples (small, about size of large cherries) are scarce. Very few pears on the market so that no price can be given which would indicate the trend of sales.

Miscellaneous Vegetables.

Orange county onions (red) sold for $2 to $2.25 per 100 pound sack. Yellows brought from $2 to $2.40. Demand fair. Not as good as last week on account of rainy weather.

Unwashed, 70 pound baskets, New York state carrots brought $1. A whole carload was sold at this price.

Long Island cabbage in bulk brought from 4c to 7c per head.

The Hay Situation.

Hay was scarce but is coming in more freely this week. The shortage is due to the lack of permits issued by the government and the shortage of labor up-state. Larger supplies are in sight because shippers are making requests for permits in large numbers. The government is still buying large quantities of hay. "The market is very unsettled and these prices are likely to drop suddenly." It is reported that the U. S. government expects to take over the Hay Exchange building and sheds and use them as a parcels post building. The commissionmen are looking for a place to handle the hay but as yet have found nothing.

No. 1 Timothy (containing no clover) brought from $36 to $38. No 2 (containing one-eighth clover) ranged from $33 to $35. No. 3 Hay (containing one-third clover) brought from $30 to $32. Fancy Light Clover Mixed Hay (containing one-fourth clover) sold for $33 to $36. Shipping Hay which is not as good as No. 3, brought from $22 to $28 per ton. There was no alfalfa on the market. No. 1 rye straw brought from $20 to $21 and No. 2 was sold for from $19 to $20.

These are prices which the commissionmen in New York city received for hay. The following charges must be deducted: Commission, $1.50 a ton; freight varies from 17c per hundred pounds per carload lots from Albany, 22½c from Elmira, Binghamton, Syracuse, Rochester, Norwich, Walton, Pan Yan and 27c from Jamestown and Watertown. Add 3 per cent to above freight for war tax. Add 40c a ton for handling charges at terminals or $2 to $3 per car on track. This is a charge made on freight bill by railroad. There is also the possibility of storage or demurrage charges.

The Live Stock Market.

Tuesday, Sept. 24, 1918.

Best state calves, 20c to 21c; mediums, 16c to 19c; commons 13c to 15c; buttermilks and grassers, 8c to 8½c; and yearlings, 6½ to 7½c.

State hogs ranged from 18¾c for roughs to 20½c for primes.

State bulls brought from 6c for light bulls to 8c for heavier stock.

Fat state cows sold from 6c to 9c; mediums from 5½ to 6½c and canners from 4c to 5½c.

Prime state lambs brought 19c; mediums 17½c to 18½c and commons 12c to 14c.

Prime state sheep sold for 11c to 12½c; mediums from 10c to 11c and commons from 7c to 9c.

Last Minute Quotations.

New York State Damson Plums sold for 65c per 4 quart basket. Five cars of Maine potatoes arrived on Monday and brought from $2.87 to $2.96 per 100 pounds. Apples dropped about 50c a barrel. $9 was a top notch for Jonathans. Onions held at about the same as quoted. Concord grapes brought from 90c to $1.10 per 20 pound basket.

MOLINE
UNIVERSAL TRACTOR
It Solves The Farm Help Problem

Electric Lights Enable Work at Night

The Moline Universal is the first tractor to be regularly equipped with a complete electric starting and lighting system, indicating the advanced standard of the Moline Universal design.

The electric starter saves many hours of productive labor in the field, due to the elimination of delays in starting, and also conserves fuel, there being no hesitancy on the part of the operator to shut off the engine when standing idle. All that is necessary to start the engine on the Moline Universal Tractor is to push the clutch lever forward. This enables a boy or woman to handle the tractor as easily as a man, and contributes greatly toward solving the farm help problem.

The Moline Universal can be used at night equally as well as in the daytime, being equipped with two powerful electric searchlights, one at the front of the tractor for throwing light ahead, and one at the rear to illuminate the work being performed. This feature is especially valuable in rush seasons when being able to work the tractor continuously day and night may save hundreds of dollars.

Other mechanical features of the Moline Universal Tractor are so many that space does not permit their enumeration here. An examination and comparison will show that in point of construction it is easily the most advanced tractor on the market.

You are cordially invited to call at our establishment and to acquaint yourself with the features that make the Moline Universal Tractor supreme in the farm tractor field. We welcome the opportunity to demonstrate.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

He only will please long, who by tempering the acidity of Satire with the sugar of Civility, and allaying the heat of Wit with the frigidity of Humble Chat, can make the true Punch of Conversation.—Johnson.

CHEESE A MEAT SAVER.

Cheese is best uncooked, but when served in dishes that are to be cooked the heat should never be very high, as intense heat toughens the protein and makes it stringy and difficult of digestion. Since it is such a highly concentrated food it should be served with foods that supply roughage or bulk. Cheese as the finish to a dinner is always served with crackers because the hard cracker must be well masticated and thus the cheese is finely divided and made more digestible.

Cheese Pudding.—Take one cupful of stale bread crumbs, one cupful of grated cheese, two cupfuls of milk, two eggs well beaten, two tablespoonfuls of melted fat, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of mustard, salt and paprika to taste. Mix the ingredients as for custard, turn the mixture into a greased baking dish and set in a pan of hot water to bake in a slow oven. Bake until firm.

Scalloped Cabbage With Cheese.—Cook the cabbage with leaves separated, uncovered in as little salted water as possible. As soon as the cabbage is tender, drain and add cheese sauce; bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

Cheese Sauce.—Make a white sauce using one cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour, a tablespoonful of butter or fat, a half teaspoonful of salt, a few dashes of paprika and four tablespoonfuls to a cupful of grated cheese.

Cottage Cheese Loaf.—Take a cupful each of cooked kidney beans, cottage cheese, ground peanuts, bread crumbs and boiled rice, one tablespoonful of chopped onion, one tablespoonful of fat, a cupful of tomato juice. Mix all the ingredients and form the mixture into a roll. Brush it with melted fat and bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes. Serve with a thick white sauce in which two tablespoonfuls of chopped red peppers have been added.

A cupful of cottage cheese added to a potato salad makes a much more nourishing and savory salad.

Nellie Maxwell

"His Bridal Night" at Opera House.

The coming of "His Bridal Night" to the Kingston Opera House on Monday evening, September 30, is attracting the attention of local theater-goers. The farce, which was one of the great successes of last season, has been made more attractive this year by the introduction of a dozen musical numbers and a beauty chorus. Every one who has ever heard of the marriage of a twin has mentally constructed the plot of "His Bridal Night." It is mistaken identity which causes the complications with a husband who is much too busy and another gentleman who thinks he loves the bride and who is really enamoured of the other sister. That sister passes herself off as the bride and they all pass a very sleepless night trying to figure out just who is who. The plot complicates itself skillfully and the identifying process is genuinely and closely amusing.

AS A BRAND FROM OUT THE BURNING

Among Many Women Who Seek the Postmaster's Help—Come One Whose Husband Had Given Her Up For the Kaiser—"Sowing "Seed" For Crop of Loyal Citizens.

Hardly a day passes that a woman does not apply to Postmaster DeWitt for relief in some form—inquiring how to get her money, an allotment, or a remittance she expects; often desiring financial help.

There are two classes represented in these appeals. One is the woman whose husband, or son is fighting his country's battles. The other is the woman whose husband has been interned and she wants to know if she cannot be advised of a good way to get him out.

They regard the postmaster as a possible channel through which they can reach the head of the government and get immediate action. And not infrequently they obtain what they are after, or if that is impossible go away consoled.

War Scenes As on a Screen.

There is always the president's secretary that can be reached and obtain a reply usually assuring the postmaster that the president or department head "is advised," etc The most peculiar conditions of war as they are found with home folks are shown like the moving of scenes in screen pictures.

Would Tear Up Policy.

One little woman went to the postmaster with a policy, the insurance on her soldier husband's life—he who is fighting at the front. She had married him on the eve of his departure. Nevertheless this policy had reached his mother bearing his mother's signature and made out to his mother The wife wanted it transferred. She thought that all she had to do was to tear up the mother's policy, which had been loaned to her by the boy's mother so as to give her daughter-in-law the chance to see what could be done with it.

Postmaster DeWitt with the ardor the craving for lots of work, patriotically inspired, listened with interest to what a slender woman from Hunter, who was stricken with grief had to say. She called herself, Lena, the wife of August Meyer, and told how her husband had been interned in some far southern camp.

She had appealed to August to declare his loyalty to this country before he was taken into custody for internment. He refused to consider himself as bound to this country's defence for he boldly said he was the Kaiser's subject. If they would intern him—well, that would be what he expected, he added.

His wife pleaded with him and after he was removed frequently wrote, begging him to make his peace with the government She is American born; her parents are American born. She loves her husband but she refuses to stand by him in his pro-Germanism.

Hunter's Interned German.

She had gone to Postmaster Albert B. Taylor, at Hunter, where she lives. He had tried to bring Meyer to reason. Answering Postmaster DeWitt's inquiries, Postmaster Taylor writes:

United States Post Office,
Hunter, N. Y.
Albert B. Taylor, Postmaster.
Sept. 10, 1918.

P. M., Kingston, N. Y.:

August Meyer stated to me when he refused to have his finger prints taken that he was subject to the military law of Germany until he was forty-five years old and that when war was declared between France and Germany he reported to the German ambassador at New York city. He is a German citizen and appears to be quite well educated and knew what he was doing. His wife is under the impression that he was influenced by a druggist, named Schuman, who lives here. I cannot say as to this. I know he was given every opportunity to comply with the law and refused to do so.

I told him he would get in trouble by refusing to register and he answered, that he knew it but he could not give his prints and answer some of the questions for a personal reason.

A. B. TAYLOR, P. M.

Mrs. Lena Meyer spent some time giving Postmaster DeWitt a history of her hansband's declarations.

Postmaster DeWitt thinks that he can save souls (or rather patriots) which he declares adds to our man power and makes "another good citizen."

He acknowledged that Meyer case is unpromising for Meyer had "freely given up his wife for the Kaiser," as the postmaster said. "But he is an intelligent man and I think I can make him see the light."

The postmaster thinks that what he wrote to August Meyer is "good American reading" for other pro-Germans who stubbornly cling to their "God," the Kaiser.

The letter to which the postmaster has yet received no reply is as follows:

August Meyer.

Sept. 12, 1918.

Dear Sir:
I have never met you personally but your wife called at post office here the day she moved from Hunter thinking she must bring her registration card to me. I explained to her that the city hall was the place. She told me the facts in your case and I have looked into your affairs.

You were wrong not to obey the laws of this country in regard to having your finger prints taken. No matter from what nation you sprung or what oaths of allegiance you had taken with your native country when in Rome you must do as the Romans do." Therefore since it is the law that all German aliens were required to register and have their prints taken that "ipso facto" automatically released you legally and morally and under international law from obeying the law of any other nation that conflicted with this. Besides, Germany has broken the laws of nations as well as of God, viz: sinking ships without warning such as only pirates have done in past 1,000 years; bombing from the air cities and towns outside of the war zone; broke its written agreement to preserve the neutrality of little Belgium, taken civilians prisoners and made them work behind the lines; misused women and slain babies and children wilfully and ferociously, and mutilated captured prisoners; used barbarous and uncivilized methods of warfare, gas and flame; attempted to cause trouble for a neutral nation, the United States, with Mexico and Japan by spies and deceit; planned to dominate the world by foul and unfair methods of warfare; winks at the Turkish barbarities in slaughtering hundreds of thousands helpless Armenians, sinking hospital ships without notice and firing on Red Cross hospitals deliberately ad nauseam less other crimes and misdemeanors These place Germany outside the pale of nations and released you from any obligations as a member of the German army until you were 45. The unlawful acts of a criminal set of men at the head of a government at once cancels the moral or legal liability or ties of its citizens who are in other countries

But above and beyond these reasons, in your case, for ceasing to consider yourself a member of the German army or obligated to that country, is the fact that you wedded an American girl, promised in the sight of God to love, honor and cherish her, to protect and cling to her putting aside all others, until death do you part. What is to become of her? When the war is over and you are returned to Germany you should not expect her to go over there to live And what is she to do meanwhile? It is your duty to decide to become an American citizen after the war is over. Germany has cut off all respect, love and affection from the outside world and you are outside. Now you cut Germany out and cleave to your wife.

Please think these things over and make up your mind and let your wife know your decision. She may be able to plead for a reunion of you and herself.

Farm Labor Can be Obtained.

The manager of the Ulster County Farm Bureau informs The Freeman "that farmers who need special help in groups of four to six or more for one to two days' work in gathering potatoes, picking apples and pears, can obtain this help by making request to the Farm Bureau three or four days before the help is needed. Boys and girls of high school age will be glad to help out on Saturdays and Sundays and many other persons who are employed in the city through the week will be pleased to help gather the crops on Sunday. Many farmers may not care to work on Sunday but in case of an emergency where help cannot be secured during the week, it is believed that it is perfectly right that the crops be gathered even though it be on Sunday. All the workers will be willing to work for reasonable wages and many of them will not accept any compensation."

Rally Day at Baptist Church.

Next Sunday will be rally day at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The regular services will be of a patriotic character both morning and evening. The pastor, Rev. Arthur S. Cole, will preach in the morning on the topic, "After the Order of Melchizedek, or Keep the Church Fires Burning." The evening sermon will be on "Nehemiah the Patriot." Special rally day and commencement exercises will also be held by the Bible School, of which Bernard W. Healey is the efficient superintendent. One exercise will be given by the class which graduates from the primary department, and there will be various songs and recitations, and the presentation of certificates. It is planned to make all the services of the day delightful and stimulating and all who possibly can should attend.

BUSY MEETING OF SUFFRAGISTS

The convention of the Ulster County Woman's Suffrage Party and the conference of woman voters held at Wiltwyck Inn this morning, was a very busy meeting and much of importance to the welfare of county the city was discussed or reported on. The meeting was presided over very graciously and efficiently by Miss Grace Roberts, chairman of the Ulster County Suffrage Party, with Mrs. Simmons as time keeper, for ten minutes was the allotted time each address and it was adhered to.

The first speaker was Mrs. Norrie of Staatsburgh, whose topic was "Our Victories." In recounting those victories, Mrs. Norrie mentioned the names of a host of influential women of the suffrage party who had been given places or responsibility or had held them in the Liberty Loan drives, the Y. M. C. A., the W. S. S. drives, Woman's Home Defense Work, etc. The Red Cross commission in France has one woman member and she is a suffrage woman. Voters overseas are to be cared for and the commission to attend this important matter includes one suffrage woman. Mrs. Norrie also stated that the woman suffrage women were doing a great part of the women's war work at present, and urged that they inform themselves and have an interest in all further war movements, and especially the movement for peace.

Mrs. Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland gave the treasurer's report, showing a balance in the treasury of $10.09.

Mrs. Leggett gave a most interesting account of her land army unit at Stone Ridge, telling of the excellent work done by the girls and women, and done without complaint of any of the working conditions, weather, etc. She had tried in vain to set in operation other units, but while the farmers were both willing and anxious to avail themselves of the girls of her unit, they lost their enthusiasm when asked to form a unit themselves, with Mrs. Leggett's aid. Mrs. Leggett thought that fact was largely due to their being too rushed with work at the time, and too little informed as to just what they would have to do, and felt that during the fall and winter much might be done to arouse the necessary understanding among the farmers of other townships to provide other units.

Miss Margaret C. Kasson, county agent for defective and dependent children, gave such an interesting and appealing account of the work being accomplished by this bureau; its moral and physical benefit to many of our county waifs with immoral homes, or destitute or in other need; and of the financial saving to the county from the reclaimation of these children from lives of crime, that Mrs. Freston of Milton asked to speak a moment on the subject. Mrs. Freston gave a graphic story of two concrete instances in Milton, that brought forth much applause, and a resolution was passed calling upon our superviors to see to it that our children's lives and home surroundings in our county were made wholesome and pure and furthermore that a sufficient appropriation be granted to properly carry on this vital work. In addition every woman present representing any township voted to personally see her supervisor regarding the matter.

In the unavoidable absence from town of Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, chairman of the Woman's Home Defense Committee of the county, Mrs. Francis J. Higginson, chairman of the organization committee of that body, gave a summary of their work, stating in brief what The Freeman published in full in Tuesday and Wednesday evening's issue. Mrs. Simmons supplemented this report by telling how the work is carried on through the wards of the city.

As Miss L. W. Stuart, county agent of the Home Economics and Food Conservation Committee is away on her vacation, Mrs. William A. Warren, chairman of the advisory council, told of the work of that organization, not only along the lines of food conservation, but of household economics, and showed, by a recital of the names of county villages, how completely the county had been visited in the interest of this important war measure. Great interest was said to have been shown, especially in the outlying district, and Miss Stuart's work was highly commended.

Mrs. A. W. Lent of Highland, spoke on "Civic Study," in an exceptionally practical and helpful manner, calling attention to the first necessity of a working knowledge of how even our villages are governed, beginning with our school district system and working up. It was essential to know what the offices to be filled, are, and what the duties of those offices, before one can intelligently vote as to who shall fill them. Evidently civic study had been profitable and valuable in Highland, and was advised for other towns.

The last speaker of the morning was Superintendent Michael, who spoke on "Publications for Civic Study," and who also presented the women present with a fine working Syllabus in Government provided by the state educational department He explained that this was not a text book but a guide, and in addition mentioned the following valuable books:

"My County," by Grace A. Turrington; "Boynton's Active Government of New York," both published by Ginn & Co. "American Government," by McGruber, published by Allyn and Baker; "Dunn's, the Community and the Citizen," published by D. C. Heath.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 26.—Marine Preferred and Mexican Petroleum were the only prominent features in the early dealings at the opening of the Stock Exchange today. Marine Preferred was ½ higher at the start, at 106⅛, and then, after reacting to 105⅝, moved up quickly to 106½ while the Common made a gain of ⅝ to 29¼. Mexican Petroleum rose ¾ to 106⅝. Steel Common hung around 110½, the previous closing figure. The railroad stocks were lower at the opening, Southern Pacific showing a loss of ⅞ at 85⅞, and fractional losses were sustained in the railroad issues. There was a big demand for American Ice, which moved up 3¼ points to 33½.

Concentrated buying made some specialties strong during the forenoon but little outside business was developed by this forced activity. The proposition to give paper for paper in the Marine deals failed to bring in any outside demand and the Preferred, after its advance to 106⅝, reacted to 105¼.

The market closed firm; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

GOOD PROGRESS IN NEW DRIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 26 (4:28 p. m.)—Satisfactory progress was made today in the new Franco-American drive which was launched this morning over a thirty-mile front west of the Meuse river.

This information was contained in advices to the Evening Standard.

Another brilliant stroke has been struck by the Americans and French, although up to this hour no details had been received as to the depth of the advance or the number of German prisoners taken.

The blow fell today on soil that has been free from violent fighting for some time.

A thirty-mile stretch west of the Meuse would carry the fighting line past Verdun and the Argonne forest into the Champagne region.

CHAMBER COMMERCE MEMBERS COUNCIL

New Branch Planned To Hold "Get Together" Luncheons—Subject of Wide Importance To Be Discussed By Prominent Speakers.

President J M Herbert announced to-day that the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have voted to organize a Members Council, which will hold monthly luncheon or supper meetings with additional meetings as they may be necessary Every member of the Chamber will be a member of the Member Council. This body will be both a Forum for the discussion matters of interest to the members and the city and a "Get Together" organization to promote acquaintance and cooperation among the members Prominent men will be brought to Kingston to speak to the Members Council in regard to such matters as the War Industries Board The United States Employment Service and other war activites of the United States Government and private agencies It is hoped that Mr Barnes, State Superintendent of the U S Employment Service, will be among the speakers in the near future There will also be open forum discussion of matters of local interest

Two further measures are being considered to provide opportunity for participation of the membership in the afairs of the Chamber. One is the introduction of a system of referenda according to which the sense of the membership may be taken on question of vital interest The other is the holding of a series of group meetings, twelve or fifteen members being invited to participate in each group until all of the members have been included These meetings would consider the revision and expansion of the chamber's program of work in terms of the new needs which are growing out of war conditions The results of these meetings will later be considered by the directors and the members' council

SCHOOL HOUSE FILLED.

For West Park Patriotic Meeting Held on Short Notice

A hurry call over the phone from West Park was "Can you give us a patriotic demonstration tomorrow night." 'Yes, Mam.'

A short announcement the same day in The Freeman, and the next night (Wednesday), not the little old red school house, but the big new gray school house was filled with the entire population of John Burrough's home village

"Good wine needs no bush" and evedently, this particular kind of demonstration needs little or no heralding and all done along this line for Wednesday night's affair was wholly the work of Miss Hilda Smith, president of the Neighborhood Association, who, in her big car and in a kind of Paul Revere fashion, called the people to the occasion

Of course, there was a big combination of things First of all in point of interest and amount of applause received, were the pictures of the local boys, each of whom received a round of it. Then came their comrades in arms, about 100 other Esopus boys, who also came in for a big share of applause as John D. Propheter flashed them on the screen.

The Rev. Thomas Baragwanath, pastor of St. James M E Church, of Kingston, gave a stirring address, which was often punctuated with bursts of applause as he recited stories of wonderful heroism on the part of many soldiers fighting for us

George Propheter gave an address which fully sustained his reputation for brevity and point. After recounting some of the unspeakable atrocities committed by the Kaiser's army, he said, "Their flag, to be emblematic of their deeds should be a black flag, its insignia should be a skull and cross bones, an on it the words, poison, misery, torture, desolation, death,' and no one would have any objection to this line underneath, "Copyrighted by his Satanic Majesty, the Kaiser of Germany" This design for a flag for the Kaiser met with the hearty approval of the audience, as did his call for "An absolutely unconditional surrender vicitory"

The show went with such peression and speed that it was over at 9.30 After having paid all expenses out of the proceeds, Miss Smith will still have about $5.00 for the Red Cross and nearly as much will go to the same from the demonstration given recently in the M E. Church of Esopus by the Rev James J. Lyon.

NIGTHMARES PICNIC AT CAMP HANCOCK

That's What Lurie Calls It When the Tents Are Blown Down in the Middle of a Rainy Night.

The following letter from Abram Lurie of Camp Hancock to a friend in this city gives some interesting incidents of camp life:

Camp Hancock, Ga.
September 21, 1918.

Dear Friend Harry:

Here I am was down south in the ordnance training camp and getting well used to army life and like it very much, if it wasn't for the hot weather and storms that we get here, especially when it rains the wind blows so hard and blows our tents away and then Mr. Rain comes down and then we try and duck, duck what duck details, and when this happens in the middle of the night you would think you were at a nightmares picnic It's a great life if you don't weaken. Camp Hancock is known for machine gun men and artillery, infantry and ordnance training and there are about sixty thousand men here now. In fact we have it pretty soft down here, nothing to do but a little detail and kitchen police.

Well Ding, old kid how are you making out? Don't you mind the town deserted? We've been told that we are coming north most any day and when we do, me for the lights on Broadway. We go to town every Sunday, which is five miles from camp and this is some town and when we get there we all get disgusted it's right name is Augusta We also learned about my brother and many more of my friends being drafted at Camp Jackson South Carolina which is ninety miles from Camp Hancock and when I received word of my brother's arrival I went up and seen him and the rest of the boys saw B. Meyer, Lebnor, Hickey, Inwer, Lipkin, Westfall, Kirchner, Lank, Judgey, Smith, Avnet and a few more and we sure were chick friends when we met.

As news is scarce I'll close with best regards to you and all my friends at Kingston and would be glad to hear from them at any time. Hoping this finds you in the best of health, which leaves me the same, wishing you all kinds of luck

Although less than four feet long it can do every kind of cooking for any ordinary family by gas in warm weather or by coal or wood when the kitchen needs heating. When in a hurry both ovens can be used at the same time—one for roasting and the other for pastry baking. It certainly does "Make Cooking and Baking Easy"
